

Through the use of Dramatic Irony, "Ernest" advances its purpose of satirizing society, and "Jaming" challenges gender roles.

Point #1 Ernest

a) Ernest satirizes society

b) Uses dramatic irony

- both claim to be Ernest

↳ girls won't love a man if he's not Ernest

c) connect back to thesis

d) transition *

Point #2 Jaming

a) Jaming challenges gender roles

b) uses dramatic irony

- role changes

- men playing women

c) connect back to thesis

d) transition statement

Point # 3 Comparison

a) how they use dramatic irony similarly

- characters pretending to be people they aren't
- comedic effect
- comment on their respective societies

b) how they use dramatic irony differently

- Ernest uses for plot, Samir for entertainment